What we offer you

Based in our radio studios, we offer an informal yet structured approach to improve your chances of gaining employment. Our two week programme develops your personal skills and demonstrates innovative ways to be more successful in your job search.

Over two weeks you will have the chance to create your own audio CV which can be distributed to potential employers via social media, improve your online presence, work as a team to produce radio programmes and receive advice and guidance on issues such as benefits, housing, finance etc through links with our partner organisations.
